GOODBY, WOMEN'S TROUBLES

The tortures and discomforts of weak, lame and aching back, swollen feet and limbs, weakness, dizziness, nausea, as a rule have their origin in kidney trouble, not "female complaints." These general symptoms of kidney and bladder disease are well known—so is the remedy.

Next time you feel a twinge of pain in the back or are troubled with headache, indigestion, insomnia, irritation to the bladder or pain in the loins and lower abdomen, you will find quick and sure relief in GOLD MEDAL Haaslem Oil Capsules. This old and tried remedy for kidney trouble and allied derangements has stood the test for hundreds of years. It does the work. Pains and troubles vanish and new life and health will come as you continue their use. When completely restored to your usual vigor, continue taking a capsule or two each day.

GOLD MEDAL Haaslem Oil Capsules are imported from the laboratories at Haaslem, Holland. Do not accept a substitute. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

Signs Of Disease

The First Signs of Disease are a Poor Complexion, Weakness, Emaciation and Lack of Vitality.

The first sign of returning health is increase of flesh, strength and vigor. Body weakness, emaciation and lack of vitality simply means that certain substances like iron, which go to make up the blood and nerves, have become exhausted; and to renew flesh, muscle and strength, the iron must be restored. Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Tablets contain iron in its most active and condensed form with such tonics as Nux Vomica, Gentian, Aloin, Capsicum and Zinc Phosphide which makes them a powerful flesh and strength maker and a wonderful restorative to the nerves, imparting the tint of health to the weak, emaciated, convalescent and over-worked. Sold by Druggists at 60 cents, Special, (Stronger more Active 90 cents.)

SOUR STOMACH A BAD SYMPTOM

Your sour stomach means danger. Your food is all being poisoned, your blood is absorbing toxic matter, and sooner or later headaches, backaches, loss of sleep, nervousness, cold hands or feet, and other more serious ills will follow.

For thirty-five years Dr. Parker has been studying and creating just such conditions, to prevent the long trains of ills that follow indigestion. He has perfected Dr. Parker's Treatment for Indigestion and Constipation for that purpose, and because he knows its value will guarantee it on a money-back basis.

Any local druggist will tell you that this treatment affords quick relief, gives strength and tone to the stomach and bowels, helps them function properly and thus restores your health. You risk nothing when you use it, and thousands have been helped wonderfully. Your $1 back if it does not help you.

CITY EXCEEDS QUOTA

(Continued From Page 1) work to be done by the bond salesmen, who would not be able to complete their work before next Tuesday. R. G. Superintendent S. C. Hooper assured the committee that the reports from the employees of that company were yet incomplete and that fully $50,000 more would be subscribed before the work was wound up in that section. Newark township reported $30,150. Newark banks subscribed for $260,100 worth of bonds. Teams working in the factories and those working in the residence and business districts reported subscriptions totaling $570,900, which brought the total city, factory and Newark township subscriptions to $733,000.

On the returns read last night, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad employees led the procession with a subscription of $73,000. If the $60,000 additional, promised by Supt. Hooper is subscribed, the total from that source will amount to $133,000. The Rugg company was second with a $50,000 subscription which included the bonds bought by the company and employees. The Wearie company was third, the employees alone subscribing $24,900. With the amount subscribed by the company, this total may run the Rugg company a close race for second place.

The contest which has been hot between the divisions headed by F. M. Black and George Pickup, in previous loan drives, waxed warm again in the Fifth loan and for the first time, Pickup's division was able to give the laugh to Black's warrior's pickup beat Black this time by about $4500.

In the team contest, that captained by L. F. Carl again took first honors in the fifth and last drive. Carl had such a start on his opponents that they were not able to overtake him.

In the annual dinner last night, the final dinner of the Licking county War Work organization would be held within a few weeks and that all the workers would be given their honorable discharge.

Early Irish Culture

The evidences of early and medieval culture in Ireland are a multitude of beautiful things, classics of literature, but likewise wonders of creative art. Thus at Cong Abbey, where sleep many of Ireland's ancient dead, and among them Rory O'Connor, the last king, there is an exquisite cross with gold traceries and delicate beauty of silver and copper and enamel and bronze, a proof of the civilization built up within Ireland long before the Normans crossed to her shores. Such instances might be multiplied.

Sympathy as a Fine Art

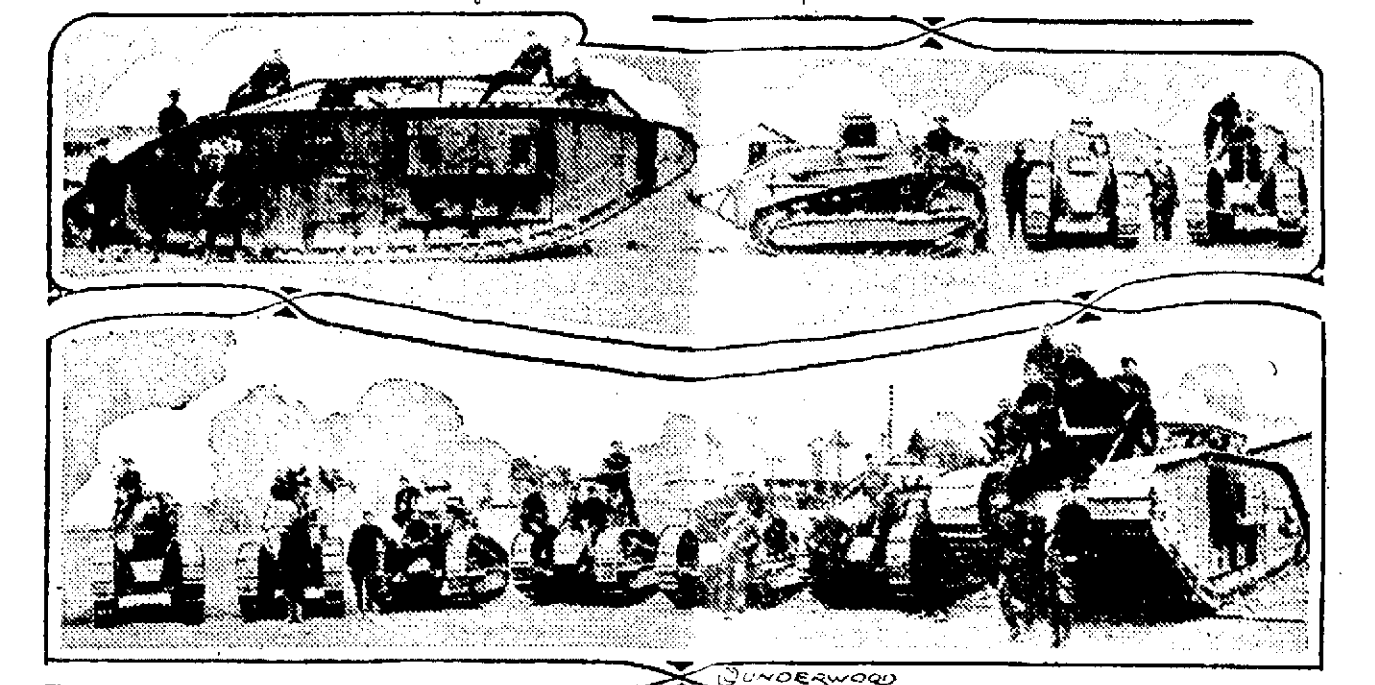

Sympathy is one of the fine arts. It should enrich, not impoverish; strengthen, not weaken; inspire while it consoles. It is easy enough to say you are sorry. It is easy to grieve with your friend over his trouble and pity him for his misdeeds. But the sympathy which is a fine art does not encourage him to give way to despair. It stimulates, it puts hope in place of heartache. It points on and up. It does not wrong your friend with the sympathy which only makes him feel like pitying himself.

Birds Not Man's Enemies

It is a fact that if it were not for the bird life we would starve to death. The great natural enemy of man is any force that will destroy his food stuffs. Every field is the home of thousands of insects, and agricultural reports will testify the fact that each year millions of dollars' worth of crops are destroyed by insects. And the birds are the natural enemies of the insect pest.

PEACE SITUATION

In French and Italian circles the situation is regarded as serious and some quarters even represent it as desperate but this extreme view is not generally held.

Several of the committee met today with the Italian members present and secretariat of the American delegation said no notice had been received of the withdrawal of Italian participation. Pending formal action no break in relations would be assumed. It was added, but the departure of three of the Italian delegates and announcement of departure of Foreign Minister Sonnino and former Minister Salandra, to occur Saturday creates an anomalous situation, as it is not known whether Italy will be represented at the plenary session of the conference Monday, when parts of the treaty including the League of Nations covenant will be finally passed upon.

French reports represent the final meeting between President Wilson and Premier Orlando before the latter's departure as highly dramatic in character.

One version is that the Italian prime minister in addressing the American President:

"You have contested the authority of the Italian government before its people, and it is my duty to go before the

BRAMBLEBRIAR TALKS

RUFUS POSSUM MAKES A PURCHASE

Rufus Possum strolled leisurely out of his home in the old oak tree, stretched his arms, shook his tail vigorously several times, and sat down on the front steps to collect his thoughts.

While basking lazily in the sun, he heard a thumpity thump coming over the hill. He laid down his pipe, adjusted his glasses, and waited in silence and curiosity to see whom the visitor might be.

"Ah!" he exclaimed in a not overly pleased manner, "heah comes dat ol' Jack Rabbit again, and ah reckons he's ambulating round lookin' for someone to lend him some money. He am a good fo' nuffin rabbit anyhow."

"Good morning, Mr. Possum," shouted Mr. Rabbit at the top of his voice. "I see an awful busy man, Mistah Rabbit, an' if you got much to say, be quick about it, 'cause I ain't got no time for fumadiddles."

"Well," began Mr. Rabbit, "seeing that we are both very busy, I guess we shouldn't take the time to talk about my money making schemes, because really, Mr. Possum, there are so many folks who want to talk business with me, that I must be getting along. Good day, Mr. Possum."

"Ho!" on there a minute, Mr. Rabbit," shouted Mr. Possum in an excited voice. "I see jus' kiddin' you 'bout bein' busy. I see! I can take time to listen to you."

"Mr. Possum," began Mr. Rabbit, coming back a few steps. "I really want to talk to you because I feel that I must be very particular who I talk with. You see, there's ol' Mr. Polecat, who is a very unparliamentary citizen, and, in fact, a pro-German citizen—I don't want to do business with him. What I want is good, patriotic, generous, honest and law-abiding citizens, who wish to invest their money in a safe thing, thereby making money, and being patriotic in the bargain. Mr. Possum, I came here today to take your subscription for VICTORY LIBERTY BONDS."

And then without any further explanation, Mr. Possum rose to his feet and extending his old wrinkled paw, said:

"Mr. Rabbit, I see an ol' gray headed fool who never knowed a good thing when he saw it. Ah reckon dat all I kin do now is to regret dat I didn't buy mo' of de odder loans but heahs where ah makes up fo' lost time."

That morning when Mr. Rabbit said goodbye, he left a certain Mr. Possum sitting on his front steps with a feeling that he had never had before, knowing that he had invested his money in a safe place, and that he had really helped his country when in need, and after all—it's patriotism that counts the most.

Tank Pilot Lost His "Pal" in Big Argonne Drive

Operating a machine gun in the turret of a light tank is no "joy ride" even under the best of conditions, and riding in a tank in the thick of battle over ground pitted with tank traps neatly camouflaged with sod, is hazardous enough to suit almost any one. Sergeant V. G. Morgan, gunner on one of the sixteen whippet tanks, which is to tour the Fourth Federal Reserve District for the Victory Loan, almost lost his life in a light Renault tank at Argonne Woods, September 26, 1918, when the tank plunged into a twelve-foot tank trap filled with water.

Harold Roberts, who was driving the tank in which Morgan was gunner, did lose his life, for he shoved Morgan out of the tank and gave him a chance to swim to safety, but was unable to save himself. For this act of heroism, Roberts' relatives were given a medal of honor in his name.

Sergeant Morgan went overseas with an artillery regiment but was transferred to the Tank Corps in February, 1918. He drove a light Renault tank similar to one of the whippets, in action at St. Mihiel and Argonne Woods. His home is in Logansport, Ind.

The World's Next Step

No. 1
The League of Nations and the Progress of Civilization

By CLARENCE L. SPEED
(Written for and Approved by the Illinois Branch of League to Enforce Peace.)

The world's next step is to be the formation of a league of nations. Tentative plans for its constitution have been approved at the peace conference. Representatives of fourteen of the greatest governments in the world have agreed on the tentative details. Reports indicate that delegates from other nations assembled at Paris to fix on the terms for ending the great war are ready to sign a treaty creating a league of nations. Even the defeated nations approve the idea if not the details. It may be taken now as a foregone conclusion that the world as a whole has decided to act in concert, to organize to prevent wars in future, to protect the weak and prevent aggression by the strong.

Since the dawn of history the world has been progressing logically toward this step, though faherlingly and with many slips backward. From the prehistoric times when it was every man for himself, down through the ages when small tribes despoiled their neighbors, when despots of the ancient world struggled for mastery, when feudal lords who were little more than robbers made wars for booty, to the development of the modern nations as they stood five years ago, man had slowly been learning that he could not live for himself alone, but must depend on the cooperation of his neighbors.

Slowly, very slowly, the ideas of right and justice as we now understand them grew up. Primitive man learned that to protect himself he had to live in accord with his neighbors. But his neighbors then were the few of his fellow beings who lived in his immediate vicinity. They were separated from others by wide stretches of jungle, plain or swamp.

As human population increased "neighbors" came to mean all the members of great tribes, and finally, all citizens of a nation.

But scientific progress outstripped for a time mankind's social progress. There came the application of steam, the discovery of electricity, the telegraph, the wireless, the flying machine, which made the world a neighborhood. Trade was carried on from one end of the world to the other. No nation could live an independent life. Failure of the cotton crop in Texas meant privation and suffering in Manchester; a change in the tariff laws of the United States might mean great distress in far distant countries. Nevertheless the nations of the earth continued to act entirely independently, each looking for its own selfish interests without regard for the interests of the remainder of the world.

The individual in every civilized country had long ago recognized the justice of the limitation of his rights. He no longer claimed the privilege of going out and killing an enemy with whom he had disagreed; of stealing his neighbor's property just because he wanted it, of enslaving his fellows, of fighting duels, of carrying concealed weapons.

He gave up all these ancient privileges and depended on his government for protection. He did so in spite of the fact that there were individuals in every land who refused to do likewise. He suffered at times from the thief, the robber, the murderer; yet as the centuries went by he took the law into his own hands less and less frequently, until before the great war broke over the world the greater part of the earth's surface was settled, orderly, safe.

Yet it never seemed to occur to these same men who had submitted to so much curtailment of their individual privileges that there might ever be any joint exercise of power by all of the states of which they severally happened to be citizens. Nations built up huge armies and navies, glared at each other across frontiers, seized the lands of weak or undeveloped peoples, and exploited conquered territories for their own benefit.

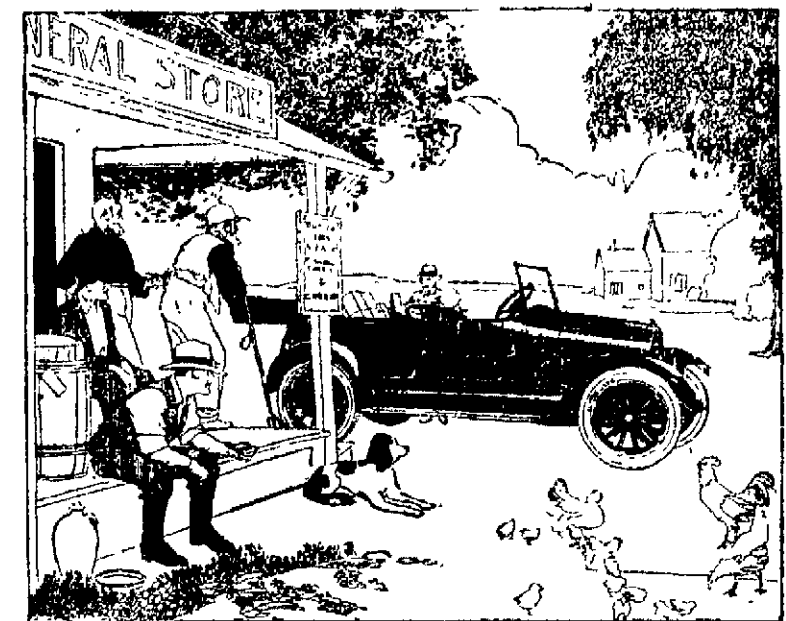

True, some countries, notably England, which held subject colonies in all parts of the earth, and the United States, which only recently had rather unwillingly accepted responsibilities in the Philippines, had reached a stage of development where they no longer considered it the proper thing mercilessly to exploit dependent peoples, yet this sentiment was far from general. Land grabbing was the accepted practice. Peaceful civilization was held back by the necessity of devoting so much of the resources of every land to preparation for a struggle that was deemed inevitable.

Finally, in 1914, the storm broke. War, costing millions of lives and scores of billions of dollars, swept over the earth, involving nearly all of the fighting and the whole world in the misery it entailed. Man, only through the bitterest suffering in all history, at last learned that if he were to hope in future to live in peace and enjoy prosperity he must recognize that his neighborhood comprised the whole world and act accordingly.

Thus came about the proposal for the league of nations. The world is taking the logical step. It is fairly on its way to a higher civilization. There may be slips backward—probably will be—but time for the great experiment is here.

Further information regarding league of nations, including pamphlets, may be obtained at the office of the Illinois state branch of the League to Enforce Peace, 342 Menard block, Chicago, Ill.

A delightful program of vocal and piano numbers was given before the members of the Women's Music club at the home of Mrs. J. R. Fitzgibbon in North Fifth street on Friday afternoon.

Collaborating on the program were Miss Ruth Ditter of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, Mrs. A. E. Best, vocalists and Miss Bessie Larkin, pianist.

On Tuesday of next week a business meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Franklin in West Church street.

Mrs. Lynn Cramer delightfully entertained the B. B. club at her home in Muscawass street in honor of Mrs. W. D. Tracey of the Sherwood Hotel, formerly Miss Golda Nancy Martin.

Mrs. Tracey received many beautiful and useful gifts, the last being a surprise package from Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Conn, announcing the engagement of their daughter, Iona Pearl, to Robert S. Wolfe.

Music and contests were enjoyed during the evening, and at a late hour tiny placecards seated the guests at the table, which was very beautiful, being artistically decorated in pink and white Ophelia roses. A five course dinner was served to the following: Mrs. W. D. Tracey, Miss Pearl Conn, Miss Faith Keyes, Miss Beatrice Orr, Miss Isabelle Somers, Miss Mabel Keyes, Mrs. Rose Hildreth, Mrs. Otto Miessmang, Mrs. Emmett Edwards, Mrs. Eugene Jackson, Mrs. Walter Bell, Mrs. J. M. Conn, Mrs. William McNeill, Mrs. James L. Hood, Mrs. Lynn Cramer.

Mrs. Anna Shannon will go to Camp Sherman tomorrow, having been selected by Joseph Shannon, who just returned from Italy with the 32nd infantry.

When entertaining visitors, overnight, should be the first to retire, when it is time to retire or should the guest express a desire to retire," asked Sara.

"A guest tries to conform to the customs of the hostess family. Therefore the hostess is expected to give the signal for retiring," replied her aunt.

Children always like beads and their stringing them often passes many hours safely and happily. At the same time the children gain a knowledge of color and of color combinations and form from bead work. Large wooden beads are easiest for the small child to thread on a piece of stout thread. The end can be waxed or a blunt ended needle can be used.

It often happens that little children, especially those nervous or highly strung, are disposed to keep on crying when they get started. When you wish a child to stop sobbing get it to take a good drink of cold water. It almost always will stop the sobbing immediately.

This earth might be a paradise if each would do her part by practicing the golden rule in her life. If young girls would be thoughtful of their mothers and lend a helping hand whenever it is possible, do not think because Mother goes about her work cheerfully, she never gets tired. There are many things you can do and many steps you can take for her that will help her very much. Don't wait for her to insist on your doing it, for it will make her very happy to have your thoughtful, voluntary help. See your self that she gets, each day, a few minutes of rest. See that she gets a few minutes to read the papers or her favorite book or to sew or embroider for herself.

Constipation should be avoided with children. A nursing baby often responds to this condition in the mother. Persistence in the establishment of a regular bowel habit in the baby prevents much later trouble. After the baby is six months old orange juice may be given once a day an hour before his mid-morning feeding.

Constipation in the bottle fed baby is more difficult to relieve. After the baby is five or six months old, oatmeal gruel may be found useful in this connection, and fruit juices as well. Orange juice, the strained pulp of prunes and baked apples, after the child is a year old.

Massage of the abdomen may be tried. Just before holding the baby over the chamber, undress him as much as necessary and let him lie on his back. Moisten the hand in warm olive oil or vaseline, and gently massage the abdomen, using a light circular movement and very little pressure. Begin just above the right groin, carry the hand to the ribs, then across the body and down on the left side. Keep this up for five or ten minutes, but be careful that the baby does not become chilled.

ALHAMBRA --- NEXT WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

AMUSEMENTS

AUDITORIUM.

"Bound in Morocco," a baffling mystery, which will make you grip the edge of your seat and gasp, is one of the many interesting features of Douglas Fairbanks' new Artcraft photoplay, "Bound in Morocco," which will be shown at the Auditorium theatre today for the last time. The picture opens with Mr. Fairbanks' bound hand and feet with chains. The scenes that follow assist in clearing the mystery and these are provocative of thrill after thrill, while the unexpected happens almost every minute. Due to the numerous new stunts, which are employed by Mr. Fairbanks in his escape from an angry mob of Arabs, who are mounted on camels, three cameras were used throughout the filming of the picture, and in this way one of the three photographing machines was sure to record the stunt. It was only when Mr. Fairbanks' last extruded his vaulting record, that one of his photographers reported that his camera was out of order.

Mr. Fairbanks is capably assisted in "Bound in Morocco" by a capable staff of players, chief among whom are Pauline Curley, Tully Marshall and Frank Campbell.

"Faith."

The Auditorium tomorrow offers a most pleasing program headed by that noted screen star, Bert Lytell, who is seen in Metre's latest photoplay "Faith," a story that is full of most exciting moments, with pathos, comedy and thrilling situations. It is from Richard Washburn Child's popular story of the same name and was adapted by George D. Baker and A. G. Keynon, with stage direction by that great director, Charles Swickard. If you have seen Lytell in any of his former successes, you will surely want to see him. Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle in his latest comedy, "Love" is an added feature.

"Love."

"Fatty" Arbuckle, whose new Paramount comedy, "Love" is announced as an entirely new and original vehicle, will be seen in that production at the Auditorium theatre Sunday. The title itself suggests infinite possibilities, for what may not be expected of the genial Fatty when laboring under the wounds inflicted by Cupid? It is safe to say that if love ever had a funny side it is adequately presented in this comedy. And it has a distinctly beautiful side, too, because Winifred Westover, one of the most delightful of actresses, is cast for the leading feminine role.

"Panther Woman."

The latest Petrova production, "The Panther Woman," fifth of the special features starring the celebrated Polish actress, to be shown at the Auditorium theatre on Monday contains a myriad of realistic thrills lacking in the type of dramatic vehicle that has characterized previous screen appearances of this emotional artist.

The story depicts the battle for life of a woman unjustly accused of murder. Tremendous outdoor scenes have been effectively introduced into the production, leading naturally up to the spectacular climax of the play in the death house at Sing Sing.

Particular effort was put forth by Madame Petrova and Director Petrov to give the proper realistic touch to that portion of the film introducing the death cell and "the house with the little green door."

In the role of Patience Sparhawk, condemned to death by electrocution, Madame Petrova is given exceptional opportunity to display all of the emotional abilities which she is famous. Her acting during the scenes in the death chamber and in the electric chair are most vivid in their naturalness, and the exciting incidents leading up to this powerful climax will hold the entire audience breathless with expectation and suspense.

"Fatty" Arbuckle in "Love" will be held over.

The Black Devil Band.

The Black Devil Band, seventy strong, which will appear at the Auditorium theatre next Wednesday afternoon and evening were a part of the 35th Field Artillery Regiment, recently returned from overseas. This highly trained military band is under the expert leadership of Lieutenant J. Tim Bryman, a colored composer of note.

Black Devil Band are the William Tell Overture; the Faust, Fantasia, and numbers from Grieg's Peer Gynt Suite. One of the favorite selections which the 35th Field Artillery Band enjoyed rehearsing while in the trenches before Metz, were excerpts from Wagner's Lohengrin. Probably the Lieutenant bandmaster knew that Wagner was exiled by the Germans long before his death. Not only is Lieutenant J. Tim Bryman an accomplished composer, and a magnetic conductor, but he is a cellist of fame, and a pianist of unusual attainments. Seats go on sale Monday for both concerts.

"Virtuous Wives."

The Auditorium theatre has contracted to show, beginning next Thursday, Miss Anita Stewart's initial First National production, "Virtuous Wives," adapted from the two million edition book of the same title by Owen Johnson. "Virtuous Wives" is described as a truthful story of married life in New York society. According to the author, in the introduction to his story, a virtuous wife is becoming an extinct species of femininity under present-day conditions. Then reasons for this, as described in his novel, have been included in the screen adaptation. Miss Stewart makes her return to the American screen after an absence of several months in the role of Amy Forrester, the "only member of a social set to whom pleasure is young." As the wife of Andrew Forrester, and obsessed only with the idea of constant and uninterrupted amusement, she appears in the role of the young society matron who daily is brought to a realization that unbridled pleasure is but the ash of happiness.

Supporting Miss Stewart in "Virtuous Wives" are four stars of the present New York theatrical season. Conway Tearle plays the part of Andrew Forrester, money maker; Edwin Arden is seen in the role of Randolph DeBarre; Mrs. DeWolf Hopper plays the part of his wife, Irma DeBarre; and William Boyd appears as Monte Bracken, social western. This feature will be shown for three days.

whose songs have been sung all over America. In the big band are men from the South; from Philadelphia and from Boston, and their names are indicative of the locality in which they once lived, so that it is possible for a person to pick out a colored musician from Jeter, Mason and Dixon's line, with as much ease as it is to locate one from Back Bay, Boston. One and all, however, are imbued with the jazz idea. Classical music may be all right for the high brow, they argue, but if you really want to start the toes tapping, give 'em a little jazz too. Lieutenant Bryman does not omit the classics from his programs, however, and he is especially partial to Beethoven's "New World Symphony," in which that great composer has inserted bits of Negro folk songs, some of which contain a suggestion of jazz. As the wife of Andrew Forrester, and obsessed only with the idea of constant and uninterrupted amusement, she appears in the role of the young society matron who daily is brought to a realization that unbridled pleasure is but the ash of happiness.

Supporting Miss Stewart in "Virtuous Wives" are four stars of the present New York theatrical season. Conway Tearle plays the part of Andrew Forrester, money maker; Edwin Arden is seen in the role of Randolph DeBarre; Mrs. DeWolf Hopper plays the part of his wife, Irma DeBarre; and William Boyd appears as Monte Bracken, social western. This feature will be shown for three days.

"The Shepherd of the Hills."

The Newark Daily Journal of Friday, April 15th says:

Those who enjoy and admire the success of "The Shepherd of the Hills" may look to see this dramatization of his novel. The Shepherd of the Hills, a novel that has been one of the most popular of recent years, has been adapted into a photoplay by the same author, and is now being shown at the Auditorium theatre. The story is a tale of love and adventure, and is set in the beautiful hills of Arkansas. The author, Richard Washburn Child, has written a story that is full of excitement and interest, and it is no wonder that it has become so popular. The photoplay is a faithful adaptation of the novel, and it is sure to be a great success.

What is Virtue in a Wife?

Anita Stewart in "Virtuous Wives"

Owen Johnson's Cosmopolitan Novel

THE HUSBAND:

"You thought me a thousand miles away" The wife hung her head in shame

The romance of beautiful Amy Forrester, daughter of wealth—swept from society's glitter by strong Andrew Forrester—then left to play while he, in distant Colorado, struggled for wealth to place her in the glowing setting he felt her beauty deserved.

"But no! Andrew," she pleads tearfully—"take me with you." "I couldn't work so hard nor so fast with you beside me," he replied. "I want you to play for both of us while I'm away. I want men to admire you; I shall glory in your triumphs."

As the months passed, Andrew loved and Amy played with other men as he had willed—holding herself a virtuous wife, according to society's code.

Then came a sinister warning to absent Andrew, the anonymous venom of another woman planted a barb in his trusting heart that brought him back to Amy—and then—then Andrew's soul accused her:

"YOU ARE NO LONGER A VIRTUOUS WIFE—YOU—YOU—"

BUCKY MAKES SURVEY OF BARNS AND COOPS

Humanity Society Agent Thomas Bucky has completed the inspection of stables and coops throughout the city. This is the first installment of a progress of progress undertaken by the society. The city was divided in districts and in each district the livestock found in each district and surrounding territory, inspected, and its condition. There are 504 horses, 277 cows, 192 hogs, and 957 chickens in Newark, all of which must be kept in sanitary condition and under humane regulation. In the course of this inspection, Bucky issued 34 warnings to persons relative to their stock, and took note of these people for future visitation.

The society's secretary, Miss Katherine Metz, visited a number of families within the past few weeks with the object of investigating and ameliorating their condition; visited the county trustees in the interest of a young man needing medical help, and is constantly at the call of those who wish cases investigated. While the society's objective is the prevention of cruelty to mankind and the brute creation in Newark it is called upon for aid when the Associated Charities should be promptly called upon.

BOYS SPEND MONEY FOUND IN POCKETBOOK

Chief of Police James Sheridan brought two lads into the patrol station who confessed to finding the pocketbook of Mrs. Thomas Evans of 98 South Third street which she lost in front of the Adelworth store several days ago and which she stated at the time contained $50.

The two boys are Charles Vest, aged 11, of 55 Pataskala street, and Joseph Chroskey, aged 12, 135 Wilwood avenue. Vest is said to have picked up the purse and gave the other boy $20. Chroskey bought a suit of clothes and gave part of the remainder to George Frost of Wilwood avenue who also knew that the two boys had found the purse. Four dollars of the money was recovered, the boys stating that they had spent the remainder. They will be turned over to juvenile court.

ASK ONLY FOR FAIR CHANCE

Crippled Soldiers Are Eager to Prove They Have Lost None of Their Good American Grit.

A West Virginia private soldier who lost a leg in the war and now goes on crutches was visiting the national capital, and while inspecting the Washington monument requested a policeman to act as a witness for a short time. The cripple then proceeded to climb to the top, 500 feet above the ground and reached by 800 steps. It is clear that this athlete was not in Washington to claim a pension on the ground of physical disability. In fact, he asks no more than a fair chance to show that he is fit to hold a job, and is ready to prove it. In the main military hospital in Washington the patients are publishing a paper called the "Come Back," whose main purpose is to promote the industrial welfare of crippled soldiers and sailors. It gathers information on useful work for men who recover from amputations or serious wounds, and wants to ascertain how much they will be able to do, not how little, and to encourage ambitious efforts as far as possible. Such endeavors, for one thing, add to the happiness of those who often are merely classed as unfortunate. A crippled condition does not necessarily mean a crippled life. The privilege of being independent that appealed to Burns as glorious is dear to every healthful nature and earnest participant in the duties of life.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

MAY AGAIN BECOME NATION

Possibility That Arab Tribes Will Be Reunited as One Result of the Great War.

One of the most interesting figures at the opening of the peace conference was Prince Emir Feisal, son of the king of the Hedjaz, the latter known as "the grand old man of the East." He is very handsome and his picturesque headress was well suited to his style. As the prince strode up and down the room before the opening of the session he was a perfect type of Arab beauty and dignity. The representation of his fine race in the peace conference and their present effort to establish their ancient kingdom recall the general opinion which, I believe, is held among orientalists that the Arabs are destined ultimately to play a big part in the world. I have seen them in the districts around the Suez canal and the Red sea and have wondered whether they would not again become a great people. Individually, it seemed to me that they were finer than any other orientals. As a wandering race they have lacked the co-operation and cohesion which enable a nation to make headway. It would be one of the historic romances if out of the world war the Arabs emerged as an organized people prepared to assume heavy responsibilities in the near East.—New York Times.

Grain for Alcohol.

Obviously nation-wide prohibition will cut sharply into the use of the cereals in the manufacture of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes. At the same time it is regarded as assured that more alcohol will be manufactured than ever before for use in the liberal arts and in manufactures generally, this to be denatured and thus absolutely unfit for drinking purposes. Plans are under way, however, for greatly increased output of alcohol as above noted, some of this undoubtedly to be made from grain, while large quantities it now appears will be produced from cheap molasses brought from the West Indies. Official chemists have been able to secure from this not only alcohol but also the use of residue for the production of glycerin, something of an increasingly large consumption. Glycerin is very largely used in making nitroglycerin, transparent soaps, lubricants, printers' inks, etc.

Death Brings Joy.

The reports from many parts of the United States that some women of an adventurous nature married soldiers in the high hopes that the husbands would be killed and that they would collect the insurance money are based on fact, it is believed.

A young woman, well dressed, went to the post office at Vancouver, Wash., recently and received a letter. She opened, read, and laughed loudly. A man driving a machine in which she rode downtown asked her what was the good news. She astonished him by replying that her husband had been killed and she would get the $10,000 insurance.

Origin of Famous Dyes.

The famous blue and purple dyes of the east, frequently mentioned in history, were in all probability extracted from the Rocella lichen, which has been extensively used in France in recent years when gorgeous colors were desired for silks. These dyes are secured by pulverizing the plant body, termed the thallus, and extracting the coloring matter by applying alkali. Litmus, one of the blue dyes, is widely applied in the science of chemistry.—Textile World Journal.

Production of Quicksilver in 1918.

The domestic output of quicksilver in 1918, according to statistics compiled by E. L. Ransome, of the United States geological survey, department of the interior, was 23,432 flasks of 75 pounds each, valued at about $8,942,201. Compared with the output of 1917 this shows a decrease in quantity.

If Your Battery Could Talk

One thing it would say is: "Don't starve me."
Another: "Don't let me die of thirst."
A third: "Test me often with a hydrometer."
Those are all simple rules, and easy to remember, but to your battery they mean the difference between a long life and a short one.

There are other things that ought to be kept in mind if you look after your own battery. It will pay you to ask us what these are the next time you come in for a hydrometer test or to have distilled water put into your battery.
